"I don't think anyone is ever writing
so that you can throw it away.
You're always writing it to be something.

Later, you decide whether
it'll ever see the light of day.

But at the moment of its writing,
it's always meant to be something.

So, to me, there's no practicing;
there's only editing and publishing or not publishing."

~ Steve Martin
